Turn around

Free time, sophomore Carol Yovanovich discovers, often had to be sacrificed for the sake of forgotten homework.

Evening did not mean the closing of the building, even though school had been dismissed. Its varied facilities were often used for night school, club functions, drama productions, banquets, and athletic events.

Center of activity for the school, the jungle has seen every Portage student spend precious free time in its halls.

Card games suggest a change of pace and lunchtime recreation for seniors Barb Barlas and Paul Van Wormer.

Three years of construction completed, Portage High School donned a modern look with new wings and a total of 11 halls.

The capacity of the building increased to a total of nearly 2,000 students and faculty members.

Snoopy, a Peanuts character, stole the show at a football game when signs bearing his name introduced band numbers.

Demonstrating, senior Brad Smith answers a question as junior members Diann Lindquist and Dave Hand look on.

Fashions became apparent everywhere—at school and social functions. Senior Dennis Butler and his Christmas dance date conform to the "in" fashions.

Red roses, a trophy, and a treasured crown topped off a perfect evening for senior Vicki Melton as she received the coveted title of 1968 homecoming queen.

Vicki reigns over 'Camelot'; Indians blank Cougars 26-0

An Indian victory and an evening in "Camelot" climaxed four days of friendly but vigorous competition during "Spirit Week," the traditional selection of queen candidates, and the biggest homecoming parade in PHS history.

It was a week characterized by Indian moccasins, feathers, painted faces, spirited and often spontaneous cheering at noon hours, and elaborate posters.

Jack "Susi" Fain became the 1968 homecoming queen at the all-school pep session and later that evening received the title of "Mr. Football," by his fellow teammates.

During half-time ceremonies of a 26-0 victory game over Gary West Cougars, Karyn Stark crowned Vicki Melton 1968 homecoming queen.

A short rest, and then students spent their "brief shining moment" in Camelot. The Basooties provided music for the dance held in the cafeteria from 8-11 p.m. Saturday.

By crossing the bridge to Camelot, queen candidate Dani Dorail and escort, Bill Kubiak, make a royal entrance.

Escorted by Kim Wallace, queen candidate Patti Kirk crosses the dance floor to take her place near the throne.

Entering the dance over the bridge, candidate Joan Peters and escort, Greg Sarkisian prepare for the ceremonies.

As their names are announced, queen candidate Debbie Leuthke and date, Mel Tracht, enter for the coronation.

Parade time found many students' cars custom-made like junior Bill Smith's volkswagon to "Bug the Cougars" with creative school spirit and group enthusiasm.

Soaring with the voices and spirits of excited freshmen, the flames of the frosh bonfire rose high into the sky.

Dogpatch hosts last dance; I.U. band, quintet at convos

Santa Claus was the featured guest at the "Snowball," sponsored by seniors on Friday, December 13. St. Louis George provided music for the semi-formal from 8-11.

The Churchill Administration entertained March 8, at Mardi Gras '69, while a King and Queen were chosen from Lettermen and GAA candidates.

Street signs were auctioned to students attending the art club dance, "Do Your Own Thing," April 12, after the G's Us furnished the entertainment.

Marryin' Sam and Divorcin' Dan kept busy at the April 19 Sadie Hawkins dance sponsored by the Vocational Machine Shop Club. The Powder Puffs played.

Whizzers, reversals, and half-nelsens were demonstrated by the wres-tlng team, while Coach Bruce Sheriff explained the steps at a November 22 convocation.

On December 12 through the idiom of folk music, the New World Singers, a college folk quintet, sang about challenges and issues facing their generation.

The Kiddy Khoir, Choraliers, orchestra, and concert band created the musical atmosphere for the arrival of St. Nick at the Christmas convo, December 20.

As part of their state tour, the I.U. Symphonic Band entertained PHS with both standard and contemporary tunes.

The Hicktown Four, several vaudeville acts, and a fantasy skit featured unusual student talent March 12 at the variety show convocation.

Mardi Gras '69 royalty, junior Karen Cowles and senior Dave Swindle, dance after their coronation.

With backwoods music and song, the "Hicktown Four" invaded the spring variety show which featured student talent.

At the Christmas dance "Santa" Cantwell and his helpers, seniors Tim Coughlin and Patti Kirk, read their gift list.

Euphonium soloist, Mr. Henry Smith, joined the I.U. Symphonic Band for their March 4 concert at PHS.

"I got a dog, his name was Blue." The world-touring New World Singers transformed a traditional folk number into rock demonstrating musical trends.

Moody silhouettes add atmosphere to the annual Brush and Palette musical accompaniment. At intermission, street signs made by art dance, "Do Your Own Thing," with the "G's Us" providing the club members were auctioned off.

Suddenly made aware of the life he could lead with a wife and son, Billy Bigelow soliloquizes in "My Son, Bill."

Alone, Jiggers, senior Shockley Flick, finds an opportune moment to convince innocent Carrie of his true "love."

The philosophy of a love-sick girl confused by the moods of her man is exemplified as Julie Jordan, sophomore Suzi Bolen, muses in the song, "What's the Use of Wondering?" Picnickers at the clam bake sympathize with her problem.

PHS musical extravaganza runs 4 nights

Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" amused, surprised, angered, and saddened the audience for four successive nights, May 7-10, in the high school gym.

The nine-scene musical represented months of practice for the Drama Club and the Music Department. A 28-piece orchestra and a production staff of 72 supported the 68 actors and actresses.

Mike Burklow as Billy Bigelow and Suzi Bolen as Julie Jordan had the leads in the story of a carousel barker who didn't realize his love until it was too late. Diann Lindquist playing Carrie Pipperidge and Walter Yovanovich as her husband, Enoch Snow, had the supporting roles.

Such great musical hits as "If I Loved You," "June is Busting Out All Over," and "You'll Never Walk Alone" helped display wide student talent.

Julie's dreams shatter as Billy's illegal attempt to gain money for his family leads to a senseless suicide.

Although they had just met, Julie and Billy Bigelow, senior Mike Burklow, fall in love and are married.

Carrie, junior Diann Lindquist, and her fiancé Mr. Snow, senior Walt Yovanovich, plan for their future together.

A lone star stuns Julie into the realization that her deceased husband has returned to help their daughter, Louise, adjust to her social position.

A confused Joe Keller, Chris Willis, tries to convince his disillusioned son, Rich Hedgepeth, of the righteousness of his judgment in the drama, "All My Sons."

Listening attentively as Mr. and Mrs. Otis Skinner argue over the future of their daughter, Cornelia, as a budding actress, are members of the cast of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

'All My Sons' wrings tears; comedy hit rocks audience

Furnishing the student body and community with lively entertainment, the Portage Drama Club initiated its season with the comedy hit, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

Frightened that the ship may sink, Emily Kimborough, junior Kathi Swiner, tries to recall some basic swim strokes.

Kathi Swiner and Gaye Dillon had the leads in the story of two seventeen-year-old girls traveling alone for the first time on a voyage to Europe. The PHS gym set the stage for the November production.

Arthur Miller's famous tragedy, "All My Sons," then followed on January 31 and February 1, at Crisman school. To heighten the dramatic effect, the actors presented the play "in the round" with a minimum of scenery.

The play is an attack on individuals who place self-interest and greed above personal honor and patriotism.

Both three-act plays were directed by Mr. Dennis Norman. Profits from ticket and refreshment sales were placed in the Rowena Kyle Scholarship fund.

Make-up carefully applied by Mr. Dennis Norman adds to the characterization of Madame Elise, frosh Jenny Stamper.

Reminded of her son's tragic death, Kate Keller, senior Marianne Carter, pauses by a symbolic tree planted in his honor.

Yellow-brick road, rainbow act as path to Emerald City

A yellow-brick road led many Portage couples over the rainbow to their "Emerald Evening."

The annual Junior-Senior Prom was held on May 17 in the school gym from 8 to 12. Johnny Nowlan and his orchestra provided the dance music.

Colorful paper poppies lined the yellow-brick road which later served as a path for the grand march. A rainbow and emerald castle completed the theme decorations.

Couples resumed their evening at the after-prom party held at the Sherwood Club in Schererville from 1 to 5. A midnight dinner was then served family style.

The New World Singers, a college folk quartet, entertained at an hour long concert before the Giant Red Jelly Bean provided music for dancing.

Emerald City travelers, juniors Barb Hegedus and Paul Tesanovich, take a moment out from dancing to rest along a poppy-lined path.

An unusual trip "over the rainbow" begins as couples enter the gym for a memorable night of dancing and socializing.

A wizard's balloon and the music of Johnny Nowlan and his orchestra transported couples to a dream land.

Flower children picked poppies when leaving the prom to save as a keepsake of their stay in the land of Oz.

Anxiously awaiting the chance to turn their tassel, the 370-member Class of 1969 listen intently to the Reverend Haven Kelley's baccalaureate address. Friends and relatives of the graduates filled the gym to capacity.

As classmates receive their diplomas, remaining graduates take a lingering last look at their friends.

Combined graduation finds 370 grads in June 1 service

Innovations dominated the ceremonies of the class of 1969.

A combination baccalaureate and commencement was held for the first time on June 1 from 2:30 to 4. To hasten the ceremony, the hesitation walk was omitted from the traditional entrance.

Graduation robes were red for boys and white with red collars for girls. The caps matched with red and white tassels. Graduates were able for the first time to keep their entire caps as a keepsake. Girls carried the traditional long-stemmed red roses.

The baccalaureate address was given by the Reverend Haven Kelley of the Ogden Dunes Presbyterian Church.

The salutation, "Footprints on the Sands of Time," was presented by Polly Wildermuth. Bill Peterson chose as his valedictory "A Sure Success."

Superintendent Ralph Kelly presented the 370 diplomas after Principal Richard Wilson introduced the class.

Centering his valedictory around the theme, "A Sure Success," Bill Peterson addresses the graduation audience.

Wordsworth's poem, "A Psalm of Life," served as the basis for the salutation given by Polly Wildermuth.

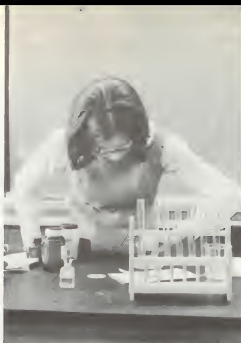

Seconds before receiving his diploma from Dr. Kelly, Brad Smith receives a word of encouragement from Mr. Wilson.

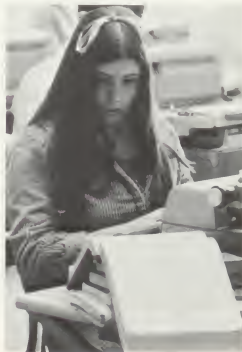

Entering the gym for the last time as high school students, 1969 graduates solemnly follow the junior flower girls as the orchestra plays the traditional Pomp and Circumstance.

Realities of nuclear warfare shown in army presentation

Nuclear warfare was realistically portrayed through movies shown to all science classes on March 27. Army specialists presented the program with a question-answer period following the films.

As a result of the school financial crisis, many science courses were restricted as to the amount of experimentation and research included in the course.

Biology students performed dissection on worms and frogs after investigating the worlds of paramecium and amoeba. In botany and zoology, their studies became more complex and analytical.

Valences, atomic theory, and molecules were studied in chemistry classes as students proved their hypotheses in class experiments and discussion.

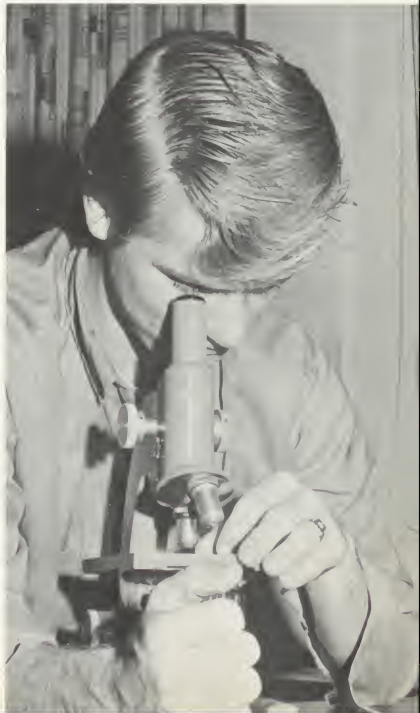

Through constant experimentation, physics students experienced the effects of kinetic energy, static electricity, buoyant force, and other scientific principles.

Inhabitants strange to PHS classrooms resided in the vivarium for use in botany and zoology classes.

Preparing for a consumer goods experiment, economics students offer Mrs. Mary Dold a sample of RC Cola.

While classmate Edith Owens looks on in amusement, junior Bill Sass examines an integral part of a psychology experiment before putting it in the maze.

Before beginning classwork, government students pay tribute to the flag by reciting the "Pledge of Allegiance."

Independent study program is social studies experiment

Nixon 41.5%, Wallace 33%, Humphrey 17.5% were the results of the October mock election in which all social studies classes took part. It familiarized students with the voting process and stimulated interest in public affairs.

The independent studies program was initiated second semester for qualified seniors to replace either government or economics. Based on grades, maturity, and initiative, seven students—Jan Baxter, Dan Clark, Dave Clark, Rebecca Crise, Dani Dorall, Susan Hammerstein, and Steve Van Nort—were chosen.

Four PHS seniors served as pages to State Senator Charles Kleinkort. Chosen from their applications, Walter Yovanovich, Penny Spencer, Jerry Yeary, and Mary Beth Lynott each spent one day in the '69 legislature relaying messages to and from the senator.

In late spring, Portage was invited to join NBC's quiz program, "It's Academic." Three students were chosen by the faculty depending on both general knowledge and quick responsiveness.

Casting her ballot, sophomore Judi Kirk learns how to use a voting machine by participating in the mock election.

Cadet teacher "Miss Jennifer" (senior Jennifer Whelpley) helps her first grade students with their health lesson.

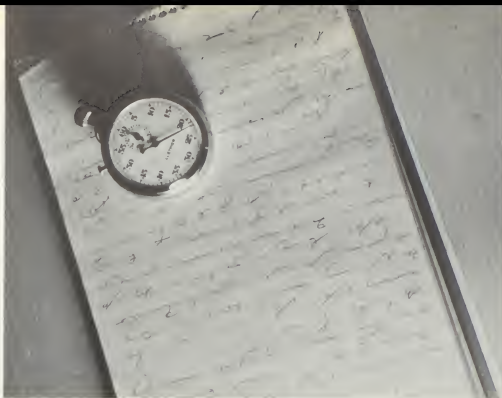

Quick but accurate fingers, concentration, and maybe even a little luck, are what's needed to operate the comptometer, one of the more difficult of office machines.

With eyes only for the book, senior Dennis Gum patiently pecks while attempting to perfect his "touch" system.

Speed, accuracy, and neatness are the important elements to consider when making an outline from dictation in shorthand.

Through the use of practice sets, advanced typing students fabricate authentic office situations as a possible means of aiding them in search of a future career.

Students find opportunities with business

A variety of business courses for all, and especially for those contemplating business as a career, is the idea at PHS where courses range from typing to marketing.

Among the other courses offered were general business, bookkeeping, shorthand, salesmanship, business law, and office machines.

Two fairly new courses, Distributive Education and Office Occupations, increased in enrollment considerably. In these courses participating seniors came to school for half of the day and worked for the remaining hours.

This year in the business department new typewriters, manual and electric, were added for the benefit of both students majoring in business and for those planning on taking only typing in high school.

The wide range of courses provided give students the opportunity to learn and actively participate in different areas of the business world.

Math students compile data in probability and statistics

Mathematics courses designed to fit each individual's needs were included in the curriculum this year. Courses such as general math, algebra, and geometry provided math foundations for students with minor mathematical interests. More advanced courses were offered for those students who were anticipating math majors or minors in college.

A large-scale table of trigonometric functions and polar graphs were just a few of the items used to aid students in Algebra II and advanced math classes studying systems of equations, relations, and trigonometry. Enlarging on many of these topics, the calculus class dealt primarily in theory.

A newer course, the probability and statistics class gathered data, and learned to make predictions on the basis of this information.

Colored text illustrations revealed the dimensions of the Pythagorean theorem to geometry students.

During their one-semester probability and statistics course, seniors Michael Yudi and Walter Yovanovich throw dice in obtaining data for an experiment to determine the frequency with which certain numbers will appear.

To help class members find their errors, calculus students solve homework problems and graph them on boards.

Considering mathematics as a possible career, junior David Glova looks over a pamphlet from Mr. Mull's bulletin board.

To aid their studies, Mr. Whiteman shows his advanced math class how to use the trigonometric functions chart.

Mr. Darcy and Elizabeth Bennett returned to life as Mrs. Mary Barber's junior English students presented and taped their dramatic interpretations of the novel, "Pride and Prejudice."

Beginning journalism student, junior Patti O'Guin strives for perfect balance with correct layout techniques.

An enthusiastic journalism outlook was a major prerequisite for Earl Fannin's election as vice-president of IHSPA.

A Globe Theatre model aids student teacher, Miss Wooten, in teaching freshmen Mike Uhl and Sue Warrick.

Interpretations, tours aid English students

Two field trips, guest speakers, and participation on publications staffs occupied students in beginning journalism.

From advanced journalism classes, six students were selected to attend summer institutes at Ball State and I.U. campuses.

A variety of term papers highlighted many composition classes, while literature classes were sparked by films, records, and extra reading.

Juniors Chris Chaddock, Diann Lindquist, and David Glova were selected to participate in the National Contest of Teachers of English. Two tests and several themes, including an autobiography, were submitted by each student to the judges.

Publications staffers chosen to attend 1969 summer workshops were Carol Mahns, Cindy Crestani, Laura Elliott, Earl Fannin, Mike Young, and Dan Finucane.

Dancing techniques are practiced in dramatics class by senior Dave Baudouine and junior Debbi Crandall.

Completing his extemporaneous speech, senior Mike Cahillane emphasizes his vital concluding statement.

The grace and swift movement of a proper lift is demonstrated by Mr. Dennis Norman to his dramatics class.

Acting students "let themselves go" as an in-class assignment. An important skill developed in acting was the ability to create a needed mood.

Speech students view themselves on 'TV'

For the first time, the video-tape machine was used in speech classes. After speeches were presented and recorded on the video-tape, each student was able to watch his own presentation with a critical eye.

Demonstration, persuasive, and informative speeches, commercials and debates were all a part of the one-semester speech course. Speech presentations gave students experience and confidence in public speaking.

To learn the basics of parliamentary procedure, Mr. Norman's speech classes formed various service clubs. Club projects ranged from sending food packages to Viet Nam to delivering Easter baskets to hospitalized children.

Besides working on stage sets for the musical, dramatics and acting students practiced makeup techniques. Through pantomimes, monologues, and skits, classes gained actual acting experience.

As senior Karen Johnston presents her persuasion speech, audiovisual assistant, junior Bill Younkes, records her talk on the video-tape machine. The video-tape will enable Karen to see and hear her speech as the audience does.

Salesmen such as Beatrice Hernandez spent weeks after school selling candy bars and brownies for the foreign language department. Proceeds helped finance PHS participants in the Indiana University Honors Program.

I.U. program sends 3 to France, Germany

With the completion of the new recording lab, the nine foreign language teachers facilitated their teaching with tape recordings of each student. Using these recordings, students were able to correct their own mistakes.

Having successfully completed the necessary steps of the I.U. Honors Program, three juniors won the opportunity to study in Europe. These fifth-year language students had to pass listening comprehension tests, complete oral evaluation forms, and personal interviews to be eligible for the eight-week program.

Debi Devyak and Cheryl Williams studied in Krefeld, Germany, while Chris Chaddock spent the summer in St. Brieuc, France. The language department sold candy after school second semester to help finance the program.

Honor program finalists, Cheryl Williams, Debi Devyak, and Chris Chaddock plan for their summer abroad.

Making use of the language lab, sophomore Sue Christakis ponders over the translating of a French love song.

Performing one of his duties as a lab assistant, senior Marv Allison checks a practice tape in the control room with the aid of a headphone.

Picture cards are used by Mr. Donald Buckley to aid Spanish students in memorizing their basic sentences.

Band selects pop, classical music sound

Concert and varsity band members were very busy this year as candy sales, concerts, and contests consumed a great deal of their time and energy.

Three concerts were presented during the year providing an opportunity for Portage citizens to enjoy the versatility and ability of the bands.

Of the 66 firsts received in the January NISBOVA contest, 11 went on to take various awards in the state contest held at Butler University on February 15.

To earn money for the purpose of purchasing new instruments, music, and other necessary equipment, band members spent two weeks in March selling chocolate bars, motivated by competition for prizes.

Under the direction of Mr. Sensenbaugh, the varsity band woodwind section practices for the mid-winter concert.

Music played by pep band sparks spirit

"Windy," "Goin' Out of My Head," and other popular songs were often heard at basketball games, thanks to the pep band, which contributed to the enthusiasm of the spectators with its lively music.

During the year, orchestra members prepared for three concerts. In addition, the orchestra, with the concert band, visited elementary schools two days in March and gave performances for the students.

Selected band and orchestra members provided the musical score for "Carousel," the spring musical, put on by the drama and music departments.

Since many band members were occupied this spring preparing for the musical, the dance band was not as active this year as it has been in recent years. However, as in the past, plans were made to play for the annual Adam and Eve Dinner.

Music group takes honors in 2 contests

The eighteen Choraliers for the 1968-69 school year were announced September 20 by Mr. Lindquist.

Throughout the year, the Choraliers entertained for clubs, and for social and church functions. In addition, the Choraliers were invited to sing at the inauguration of Mr. Richard Wells, State Superintendent of Schools.

Having placed first in the district vocal contest, the Choraliers qualified to compete in the state contest where they again received a superior rating.

The one hundred choir members were selected in November. The group gave two concerts and competed in a contest on April 19.

The combined chorus classes performed seven numbers including "By the Time I Get To Phoenix" and "If Ever I Would Leave You" for the spring concert on May 2.

A strong background light enables junior Chuck Myers to trace with infinite patience an intricate drawing for his art foundations class.

In art class, junior Paula Guldge makes use of various sculpturing tools while modeling a head out of clay.

After much hard work, senior Diana Vincent is finally able to put the finishing touches on her hooked rug.

Hooking rugs one of many art activities

A new pug mill, a machine which mixes and prepares clay for use, was added this year to the art facilities. Although it was purchased by Brush and Palette, the pug mill was used in the art classes too.

Two sophomores, Joyce Shoub, and Teresa Sweeney, placed first and second in the Gordon's 22nd Annual Commercial Art Contest. Entered as a class project, the contest was designed to give actual experience in producing commercial art.

In the spring, art work from the combined art classes was shown in the annual art fair. Ceramic pieces, collages, paintings, hooked rugs, and various wood, metal, plaster, and stone projects were put on display for the public.

New power supplies benefit shop students in electronics

Card tables and orange crates vanished as PHS electronics students switched to new work stations equipped with the latest types of power meters and other greatly needed supplies.

In the industrial arts program beginning students learned the basics of all shop work, and advanced students prepared for future careers in vocational courses of auto body shop, building trades, and machine shop, to name a few.

Other shop courses offered provided students with opportunities to learn in areas varying from classes of printing to those dealing with woodwork and hydraulics.

For those taking mechanical drawing courses, emphasis was put on the importance of precision measurement and accuracy in drawing.

Students enrolled in drivers' training learned proper driving skills and the importance of defensive driving.

Architectural drawing student, junior Dan Shaw, designs house plans using precision measurements and concentration.

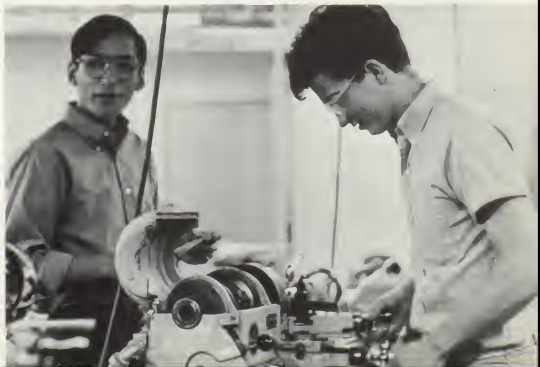

A slight difference of opinion occurs between Junior Rick Spak and fellow students over a mechanical difficulty.

Detailed bench work on a metal lathe prepares soph Dan Vondrasek and senior Dan Barajas for jobs with shop machines.

Auto shop students attempt to find and fix engine trouble under the guidance of their teacher, Mr. Everett Rohwedder.

Proper use of the newest car safety devices, such as shoulder harnesses, is stressed by Mr. Ralph Morris as he instructs sophomore Ronnie Cook in drivers' education.

Dirt and grease are of no concern to juniors Henry Whitten and Eddy Giese as they try to discover just what the trouble is. The vocational auto mechanics course includes diagnosing, repairing, and adjusting various parts of an automobile.

An old tradition of Italy is brought to PHS kitchens in this national Quill and Scroll award-winning picture of boys' home economics student Ron Vandenburg as he serves a heaping portion of spaghetti and meatballs to a classmate.

With a great deal of concentration, junior Barb Trumble moves toward the completion of her sewing project.

Homemakers of tomorrow achieve skills

Designed to present information beneficial to the physical and mental health of an individual, health and safety was a required course for all high school students.

Four credits in home economics, however, excused a girl from taking health and safety.

In home nursing class, emphasis was placed on simple nursing techniques and emergency treatments.

Clothing construction classes delved into the principles of color texture, and design in materials.

Senior boys had a chance to study domestic sciences in the boys' home economics course. Similar in content to the girls' courses, boys learned about food preparation, manners, and consumer concerns.

Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Award winner Becky Wiese demonstrates techniques learned in previous home economics courses.

Volunteer Jerry Childress aids health and safety teacher Mr. Larry Casbon in showing class how to make a proper sling.

Aided by spotters, Robin Holm and Lajane Denney, sophomore Laura Salchert rehearses a stunt on the balance beam.

As tunes of square dancing songs ring through the gym, senior Andy Gerkin and junior Meg Griffin do some promenading.

Under the supervision of Miss Stonebraker, junior Lajane Denney attempts a vault on the vaulting horse.

Since keeping in shape is so important, vigorous physical education students start out the class hour with leg-lifts and other warm-up exercises.

Increase gym facilities; buy new materials

A new trampoline, balance beam, horse, parallel bars, and other apparatus enabled the physical education department to expand its curriculum to include two gymnastics classes, two recreation classes, and a leadership class, in addition to its beginning and advanced gym classes.

Physical education students learned to practice sportsmanship while participating in individual and team sports. For a change of pace, students also square-danced.

While the leadership class taught games to elementary students, gymnasts made preparations for competition in gymnastics meets in February and March.

"Dive through" rings the call as gym class students Juniors Doreen Hunt and Jim Brocksmith perform the motion.

New scholarship added to awards program

SCHOLARSHIPS—Dani Dorall (FTA alternate); Linda Selvage (FTA); Beatrice Hernandez (FNC); Ruth Maxson (FTA).

Due to outstanding achievements and leadership, Mary Ann Kuznicki and Karen Johnston receive the Ricky Avery and Wallace Aylesworth Scholarships respectively.

Trophies, scholarships, and other honors were presented to many students at the annual PHS awards night program along with the induction of new Honor Society members.

In addition to the Ricky Avery, James Benfield, and various other scholarships, a new award called the Wallace Aylesworth Scholarship was presented for the first time.

Pat Thurman and Kyle Sanderson received the driving awards. Home economics students Becky Wiese and Anna Lajcin were also recognized for their achievements.

For many, awards night was a satisfactory ending to a productive and successful school year.

JOURNALISM AWARDS—Mary Ann Kuznicki and Polly Wildermuth, Ethel Jones Outstanding Journalism Student award winners; Don Michael, Most Valuable Staffer.

Mr. Richard Wilson, principal, congratulates Bill Peterson, PHS's first National Merit Scholarship winner.

MUSIC AWARDS—Shockley Flick, National School Choral Award; Ruth Maxson and Jim Warren, John Phillip Sousa Band Award; Larry Swanson, National Orchestra Award.

BUSINESS AWARDS—Mary Ann Kuznicki, Outstanding Business Student; Barbara Elledge, Business and Professional Women's Scholarship; Carolyn Keefover, Miss Secretary.

Guidance, Student Councils promote civic responsibility

Student Council sponsored a variety of activities including taking part in various convocations and in Youth Government Day. Members also sponsored the homecoming dance, entitled, Camelot.

A special convo, featuring the New World Singers, a college folk quintet, was held in early December. Student Council committeemen also entertained the student body and faculty at the annual Christmas convo with skits and the appearance of Santa.

As a school service project, members compiled a pamphlet explaining about the various clubs and their activities.

Topics ranging from "Atomic Survival" to "Who Ho Chi" were presented by Guidance Council members in seven 25-minute presentations.

Members enlightened the student body by presenting detailed information and exchanging opinions.

Special topics such as "Athletic Orientation" and "Student Activities" comprised part of the freshman program. These topics were helpful in getting the freshmen into the routine of high school life.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors heard reports on many topics including "Treatment of Minority Groups," "A Nation of Sheep," "Status Seeking," and "Teenage Tyranny."

"No man is an Island" was the theme of WIMS disc jockey, Stewart McDonnell, as he spoke at the annual Quill and Scroll banquet on May 1.

Five seniors and eight juniors were inducted into the Rowena Kyle Chapter of Quill and Scroll during a candlelight ceremony. Awards were presented to outstanding journalists from the Legend, Saga, Pow Wow, and News Bureau staffs, following a News Bureau satirical skit.

Entertainment was also provided by the presentation of the Incredible Honors, nicknamed the Rhoad awards, which were presented to various members of the staffs.

Early in the year, Quill and Scroll sponsored a sock hop featuring the Colors of Tyme, to finance the banquet.

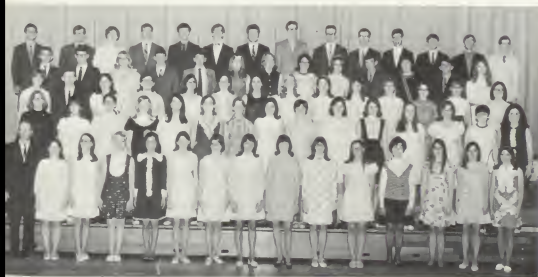

Posting the honor roll at the end of each six weeks period was the responsibility of senior Honor Society members Janet Baxter and Becky Crise.

In a News Bureau skit pantomiming teachers' idiosyncrasies at the Quill and Scroll banquet, junior Dan Finucane imitates Mr. Warren Munro.

"I do pledge myself . . . to live up to the ideals of true journalism," Mr. Robert Rhude, sponsor, leads the induction oath at the Quill and Scroll banquet.

NHS initiates tradition; has 2 inductions

National Honor Society began a new tradition this year by naming new senior members at the start of the second semester giving them a chance to join in the club's activities before graduation.

For NHS's new system of collecting and tabulating the honor roll, students turned their grades into members stationed in the "jungle."

Honor Society sponsored Awards Night, May 27, at which all new members, including those announced earlier were inducted at a candle-light ceremony.

The club sponsored the second annual variety show.

Thespians, Drama Club give variety show, 3 productions

Long hours of hard work went into the production of the comedy, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," the tragedy, "All My Sons," and the musical, "Carousel," the three plays the Drama Club and Thespians performed for the public. With the proceeds from the plays, the clubs were able to buy new equipment and allow money for scholarships to send Karin Pratt and Peggy Wiese to workshops at Purdue University.

Besides organizing and presenting the second annual variety show, the Drama Club also produced a skit for one of their meetings. Clad in Salvation Army clothes, members proceeded to collect for the Salvation Army during lunch hours for use of the clothes.

As a member of the International Thespian Society, Thespians practiced to perfect a one-act play, "Wake Up, Santa Claus." The skit was not only performed for the pediatric ward at Porter Memorial Hospital, but also at an old people's home, Whispering Pines. After presenting the play at the hospital, the group then sang Christmas carols, while at the home they distributed candy and cookies.

The club sponsored their annual Thespian Banquet at Obie's Restaurant, featuring the awarding of the O.B. (Off-Broadway) awards, the initiation of new members and the election of officers. The Rowena Kyle Scholarship was presented to senior Marianne Carter.

With a "ho, ho, ho," Thespians touch up "Santa Claus" before acting out a play for an area hospital and rest home.

Germantown trip climaxes club activity

Members of Der Deutsche Verein celebrated Christmas with their annual Christmas party, the Der Weihnachten Fest. They sang Christmas carols and trimmed a Christmas tree with various homemade candles and decorations that were made by the club.

Earlier in the year members took a trip to Germantown where they saw the play "Thomas Mann" featuring Toni Kroger. Students also explored the shops and purchased candy, cards, and books.

At a German restaurant members ate foods such as Sauerbraten, wiener-schnitzel, and spatzle.

Numerous bake sales provided a $60 scholarship for a club member interested in attending a German summer camp in Minnesota.

While preparing a piñata, Denise Vespo and Nancy Calmes gain knowledge of the customs of Spanish-speaking countries.

Piñata's big 'smash' at Spanish club party

The construction of "Scorch 'em," the Spanish club float, began the activities of La Estudiantina. Meetings were conducted once a month to plan future activities and to stir further interest in the Spanish customs.

Christmas was celebrated with a party given by Amy Shultz in an atmosphere of piñatas and other decorations.

To further promote the Christmas spirit, members of La Estudiantina painted and decorated a tree for their classroom in the true Spanish custom.

Plans were also made for members to attend the Ballet Folklorico in Chicago for early February.

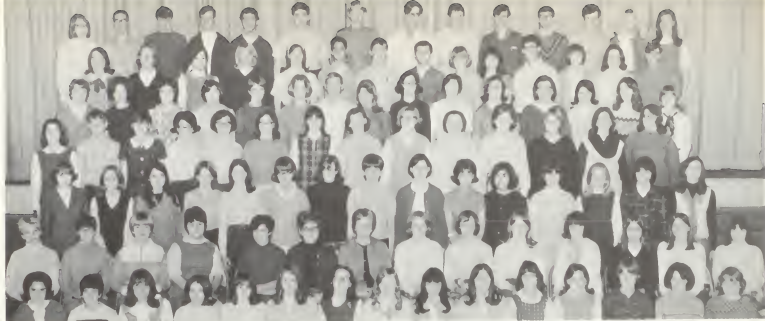

Considering tentative arrangements for their scholarship program, German club officers, Belinda Wehner, Barb Chubbs, Kathy Kuhn, and Val Blohm, compare notes.

Future teachers dinner guests of area FTA

Selling PHS pins and sponsoring a sock hop provided FTA with money to present two scholarships to outstanding senior FTA members.

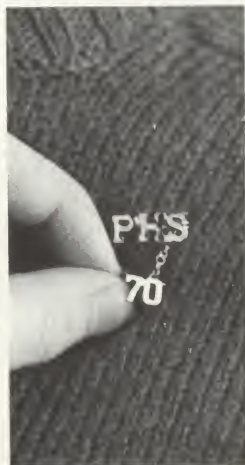

Various programs were presented so students could get ideas concerning different fields of teaching. Among their guest speakers were area high school and grade school teachers, cadet teachers, and a consultant from Indianapolis who spoke on special education. Their final meeting was presented as a tea.

Members were invited to a dinner as special guests of the Chesterton FTA. Other activities included trips to both the area conference and the state convention.

While relating unusual cadet teaching experiences to FTA members, senior Debbie Lock displays a Christmas card she received from one of her students.

Class spirit soared during FTA's gold PHS pin sales which provided the club with $125 for their scholarship fund.

FNC delivers food baskets to 2 families

To encourage area residents to buy and use Christmas seals, the Future Nurses' Club distributed tuberculosis posters to Portage businesses as one of their major projects.

As another service, members gathered Thanksgiving baskets for two needy families in Portage.

To obtain money for the $100 scholarship fund, the club sponsored an after-game sock-hop in mid-December. The scholarship was given to a senior interested in a health career.

Their final activity was their Spring Tea where officers were installed and the scholarship was presented.

Businessmen lecture PBC; guests of DE

Through eight informative meetings, the Portage Business Club prepared its members for the business world. Speakers from several banks related details about applying for jobs and deciding on business careers.

The club received funds from their monthly dues and a sock hop which featured the Leather Sole.

Members of Distributive Education Clubs of America worked half days in area businesses. The all-senior club was co-sponsor with OEA of the Employer-Employee Banquet in the spring.

OEA competitors earn state, national titles

Participation in the U.S. business system in a secretarial sense was the basis for membership in the Office Education Association.

By selling stationery and note cards and holding two car washes, members earned money for a spring banquet. Dues of twenty-five cents a week were also collected at meetings held on Thursdays during the related class hour.

Five members attended the state contest in February placing third in the spelling, Shorthand II, and book-keeping contests and first in Miss OEA competition. In March, the first place winner went on to win first in the national contest.

The OEA sponsored an Employer-Employee Banquet together with the other vocational clubs on April 16. Certificates were given to participating employers in recognition for having an OEA member work for them. Also, an award was given to the outstanding OEA student.

Earning money for the club's Employer-Employee Banquet, OEA president Billie Martin sponges a customer's car.

Debate, machine shop clubs newly formed

"Resolve: There is a generation gap and it is a problem in our society today" was the topic of a debate presented to the Saylor PTA by the Debate Club. The club was established during the second semester to stimulate intellectual growth and teach one how to reason with and have complete control and knowledge of communication. Besides forming a constitution at meetings, the club also held a picnic.

With a hillbilly theme, the Vocational Machine Shop Club sponsored their annual Sadie Hawkins dance. Besides a Marrying Sam, a Divorcing Dan was also added for the benefit of unhappy couples. The Powder Puffs, an all-girl band, played for the affair.

With money from the dance and dues, the club sent two delegates, Ken Krohn and Dave Crook to the State Machine Shop contest at Indiana State University.

The new club was formed to promote interest in the vocational machine shop area.

SCS sponsors mock debate, fall elections

A mock presidential debate and election and a news program were among activities the Student Citizenship Society sponsored to promote citizenship around the school.

During the debate, SCS members representing the 1968 candidates gave their views on major campaign issues. For the election, students voted for the candidate of their choice on voting machines. The news program given was a collection of interviews from students on the cafeteria food.

During a mock debate sponsored by the SCS, Bob Nelson, Randy Olson and Randy Woodard, representing Richard Nixon, Hubert Humphrey, and George Wallace, respectively, express views on the major issues of the 1968 presidential campaign.

Lettermen, GAA further school sports

PHS's largest club, the Girl's Athletic Association promoted physical education through a variety of fall, winter, and spring sports.

In a crepe paper and balloon atmosphere, GAA sponsored its second annual Mardi Gras. The "Churchill Administration" played for the March dance.

Pins, plaques, and other awards were presented at the May 29 Mother-Daughter Banquet.

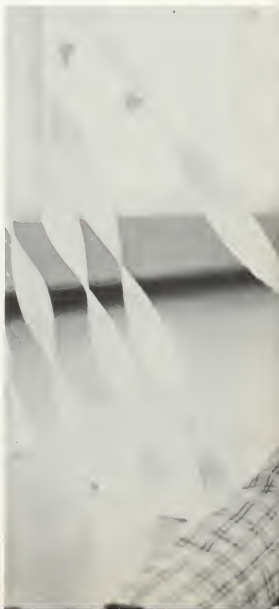

To be inducted into Lettermen's Club, a prospective member had to submit an application, setting a new tradition.

'Soul' cheers boost morale of PHS teams

Sounds of "soul" cheers not only echoed across the football field and basketball court from the direction of the pep block, but also found their place among other PHS sports such as wrestling and swimming.

Besides boosting teams onto victory, the Pep Club also undertook some homecoming activities by decorating the football field and painting witticisms on store windows in the mall.

To boost school spirit, members constructed colorful teepees, booster signs, and pep tags.

This year the club was supported by the membership of 20 boys, who often competed with the girl members of the pep block.

Brush and Palette decorates windows for holiday season

Brush and Palette members began their year's activities in the spirit of homecoming by making colorful red and white posters to distribute among the student body during Spirit Week.

Members sponsored an after-game sock hop in November. Proceeds went to the purchasing of a clay mixing machine for use by the art department.

The non-profit club also purchased card tables for the school, donated $35 toward the FTA fund, and $135 for band uniforms.

During the Christmas season, the club hung painted pine cones, and papier-mâché figures throughout the school. Members also spray-painted popcorn strings and hung them in the jungle hall.

As a major spring activity, Brush and Palette members sponsored a costume dance where various items were auctioned off.

Cheerleaders promote school spirit among

Rhythm cheers characterized the routines developed by the 20 PHS cheerleaders as they boosted our teams to victory. Besides training members and conducting cheers in the Pep Block, the cheerleaders also arranged and planned pep sessions, sponsored the freshmen bonfire, and collected for the March of Dimes during one of the basketball games.

One of their money-raising projects was sponsoring a sock hop which yielded over $120. With this money, new sweaters were bought for the varsity cheerleaders.

The varsity cheerleaders were also able to participate in the fall clinic. With cheerleaders from other schools, they were taught correct movements in cheerleading.

Apollo 8, Olympics covered by '69 Legend

With the assistance of Mr. Robert Rhude, advisor, co-editors Mary Ann Kuznicki and Polly Wildermuth supervised the output of the 1969 Legend.

Nineteen strong, the '69 Legend staff produced a 184-page yearbook to help PHS'ers review their past school year.

Plans for this year's book were initiated at the I.U. and Ball State workshops. Three staffers were awarded grants-in-aid to attend the two-week sessions in July and August.

Co-editors Mary Ann Kuznicki and Polly Wildermuth along with adviser, Mr. Robert Rhude, worked with staffers to organize the '69 Legend. Publishing representative, Mr. Richard Kennard, attended meetings with the editors to make recommendations as to design, color, and theme.

Coverage of current events brought a new spark to the total look of the yearbook with pictures obtained from NASA and the UPI wire service.

Staffers worked long hours after school, as well as on Saturdays to meet deadlines which came in four installments.

Sending out bills was among the duties of business manager Billie Martin, advertising manager Cindy Crestani, and sales manager Carla Mattingly.

Having finished another page, sports editor Mark Humbert proudly fills in his line on the progress chart.

With the spring deadline approaching, academics editor Carol Mahns and index editor Diane Holle, dutifully complete their respective tasks. While Carol counts out a headline, Diane checks the correct spelling of a name.

School paper is distributed at no charge

Headaches emerged as Pow Wow staffers worked long hours designing layouts, writing stories, and proof-reading in order to meet their bi-weekly deadlines. Due to their dedicated work, the Pow Wow was awarded an All-American Honor Rating for first semester issues by the National Scholastic Press Association.

Special features covered the new superintendent, a Czechoslovakian refugee, and the financial crisis. For the first time, the entire student body was able to receive the Pow Wow without cost.

A special honor for the staff was the election of sports editor Earl Fannin, junior, as state vice-president of IHSPA.

News Bureau, Saga prepare young writers

To inform the public about PHS activities, the News Bureau wrote numerous stories for four area newspapers. After being assigned a certain story, students collected information from teachers, coaches, or the administration and wrote the news item. The article was then published in the respective newspaper.

For a field trip, the staff toured the Vidette Messenger to discover what being a news reporter was really like. Each student was assigned to a specific reporter and assisted him for the day.

Encouraging students to write more by giving recognition to good writers, the Saga staff compiled two issues of PHS's literary magazine. After picking the best themes submitted to English teachers, the staff wrote titles, made layouts, typed stencils and assembled the pages together.

Although the first semester issue cost only 50 cents, the second semester issue's price was raised to 75 cents due to an increase in pages and a plastic cover.

Harriers end 10-5; Thomas runs in regional

A new coach, Mr. Michael Cavanaugh, greeted four returning lettermen and steered the cross country team to its third winning season.

Winning their first dual meet against LaPorte, the Indians then followed with four straight losses in the Calumet Conference. But the harriers took the next nine of ten meets to finish their dual meet record at 10-5, also taking tenth in the Shortridge invitational, a sixth at Andean, ninth at Hobart, and a fifth in the conference meet.

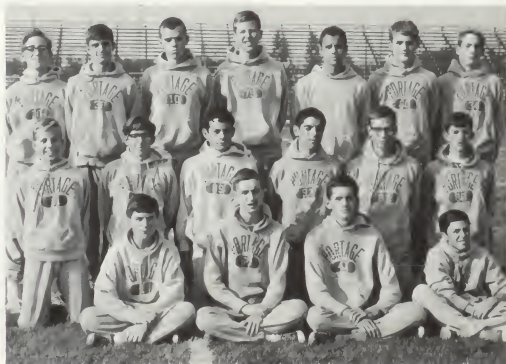

While Bob Thomas took a fourth place in the sectionals, the team duplicated his feat. Thomas went on to take seventh in the regionals, competing against other area teams, Highland and Chesterton, who placed third and sixth in the state, respectively.

The junior varsity ended the season with a 2-3 record, while the freshman team was 3-2 and took two first place trophies at the Valparaiso and Westchester invitational, with Doug Pauley, Chuck Shields, and Dave Jasper leading the team.

Coach Cavanaugh records Bob Thomas' second place finish in a triangular meet with Highland and Chesterton.

Launching its first season in the school's history, the newly organized tennis team boasted a 4-3 record at the season's end. The racketmen were coached by Mr. Jerry Kaiser.

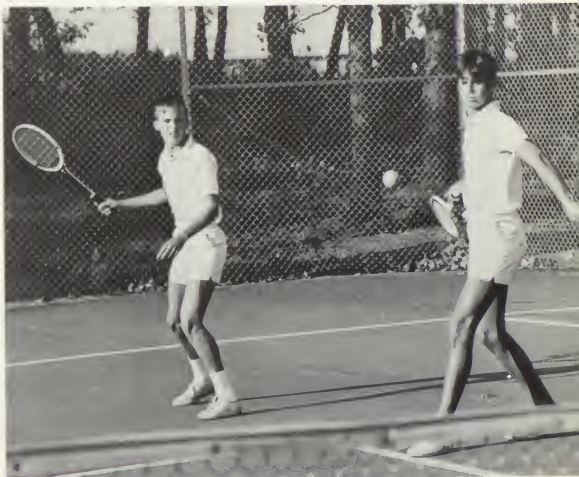

After ending the regular season undefeated, the doubles combination of senior Bob Nelson and sophomore Jim Combs went all the way to the semi-final match of the sectionals before meeting defeat. Nelson and Combs individually picked up nine points for the entire team with their 3-1 sectional record. The six letter winners were Nelson, junior Bob Zatkoff, sophomores Mike Tracht, Dennis Horner, and Combs, and freshman Jon Tetrick. Zatkoff and Tetrick were doubles, and Horner and Tracht were singles.

All home matches were held on brand new courts located behind Aylesworth Junior High.

Junior defensive back Tom Swanson sets himself behind a receiver in preparing himself to tackle the East Gary offensive man in the Indian's last contest of 1968.

Hurst, Beasley selected as All-Conference

In spite of a superior running game led by junior Jerry Hurst, the PHS varsity football team dropped six of nine contests to finish with a disappointing 3-6 record.

Hurst was selected along with senior guard George Beasley to the Calumet Conference All-Conference team.

PHS gained more total yards in offense than the opponents, but had to rely exclusively on a ground attack for the offense to do so.

With Beasley, Jerry Petillon, and Len Taylor adding key blocks, Hurst was able to gain over 850 yards rushing. He scored 36 points to tie quarterback Bob Ricker for scoring honors.

Highlight of the season was a 26-0 homecoming win over Gary West.

The Indians main strength seemed to be at home, as evidenced in the fact that PHS failed to win an away game, but won three out of four on the home field.

Passing proved to be a weak point for the offense. Only 21 of 65 passes were completed for a total of 236 yards. The rushing attack netted a total of 1,542 yards, compared to the opponents 690 and 1308 yards, respectively.

Penalties also hurt the Indians since PHS lost 520 yards due to infractions. Opponents lost only 460 because of penalties.

Under the direction of Coach Jon Jepsen and rotating team captains, the junior varsity football team of PHS took four of seven games, losing the other three by two, six, and seven points respectively.

The high scorer for the reserves was Tim Ricker who tallied a total of 30 points altogether, his longest, a 60-yard punt return. The second point gainer for the Indians was halfback Terry Connell who scored a total of 18 points. Kicker Dan Riley also ranked in the scoring with eight points, three of them scored on a 32-yard field-goal.

Season highlights included Steve Finney's fumble recovery for a TD, Ricker's 30-yard touchdown run after his pass interception against Chester-ton, and a safety after a Gary West punter stepped over the end-line for two points.

In total points, PHS tallied 76 points to the combined opponents' total of 48, though the Indians were held scoreless twice as they held East Gary and Gary West to shutouts.

The Freshmen were also four and three, losing to Calumet, Ben Franklin of Valparaiso, and LaPorte. Under the direction of Coach Bruce Sheriff and his assistant, Mr. Robert Kellstrom, the frosh held their opponents to 77 points while tallying 82 for themselves.

The frosh were also shut out twice and held two teams scoreless also. Calumet and LaPorte shut the freshmen out and PHS shut out Valpo Thomas Jefferson and Michigan City Krueger. The high scorer for the young Indians was John Yavor.

Matmen floor

Senior grappler Dave Swindle sparked the PHS varsity wrestling team to a 13-1 season record and retired from the team undefeated in two years of dual meet competition. Dave was also named to the All-Calumet Conference matmen for two years straight.

As a team, the Indians breezed through the season to the conference championship, winning all dual meets except the last one, a non-conference meet, to Hammond Morton, 24-18.

The tribe's hardest conference contest was against Gary West, a meet that was tied 21-21 going into the heavyweight match. Jerry Petillon then came through for the margin of victory by pinning his opponent.

Nearly 600 fans went to Griffith to see the Indians grab the conference title from the Panthers who were previously undefeated in the conference also. Greater team spirit was accredited to the all-school convocation directed by Mr. Bruce Sheriff, wrestling coach, showing the student body what high school wrestling was all about. With two all-conference grapplers, PHS went into the sectionals with high hopes of taking all honors, but Portage only placed second and only senior Paul Allen went on to the regionals to be defeated in the first match there. In a dual meet against Merrillville, sophomore Ken Kendricks nears pinning his rival in the 133-weight class.

Struggling for control over his opponent in a JV contest, sophomore Joe Mann reaches for a leg to try to trip him.

Congratulations are in order for senior grappler Joe Rains after his victory in the 165-pound weight class.

Waiting for the shot of the gun, swimmers prepare to dive in one event at the Griffith Invitational meet. Timers in the back set their stopwatches.

Somewhat tired after a sprint, sophomore John Van Wormer climbs out of the pool to rest on the bench and watch other PHS swimmers compete.

Tankmen hit all-time highs; Hinshaw vies for state title

Breaking and re-breaking records all season, the PHS swim team ended their dual meet season 10-2, and sent John Hinshaw to the state diving meet where he placed 18th of 30.

All relay records were broken by the team of seniors Chuck Donley and Steve Van Nort and juniors Dean Hostettler and John Muntean.

Van Nort also set individual records in the 100-yard butterfly twice. Besides those, Steve set new PHS marks in the 400-yard individual freestyle, the 200-yard individual medley, and the 160 individual medley. Muntean set a record in the 100-yard backstroke, Donley in the 100-yard breast stroke, and John Hinshaw set a new point mark in diving at the Griffith Invitational meet, but placed second to a Griffith diver. Hinshaw broke the record by accumulating 330.20 points, breaking the old record by more than 30 points.

PHS placed sixth in the state sectionals at LaPorte and only Hinshaw qualified for a chance to go downstate.

Coach Jon Jepsen resigned at the end of the season for a coaching post at Munster High School.

Co-winner of the most valuable swimmer award, senior diver John Hinshaw prepares himself for another dive.

Sophomore Chris Lajcin scored 221 points in helping the PHS junior varsity basketball team end the 1968-69 season with an 11-9 record. The freshman team was sparked to their 10-6 record with the help of Chuck Shields, who scored 204 total points for the frosh.

Breaking the scoring down into field goals and free-throws, Lajcin had a .475 shooting percentage on regular shots, scoring 150 points, and a .642 mark from the charity spot, scoring 70 points. Shields scored 80 field goals and made 44 free-throws for a 65 per cent free-throw average.

The reserves' best point average was sported by Jim Langendorfer who marked around 11.4 points per game. Jon Tetrick took second for the frosh with 164 points. Two other top scorers were frosh Bob Coleman and reserve cager Dennis Horner.

Rebounds for the jayvees were led by Chris Lajcin, Robin Berg, and Jim Langendorfer.

record 107; Marv, Bob rank all-conference

Sparked by the scoring of senior all-conference cagers, Bob Nelson and Marv Allison, the Portage Indians ended the 1969 basketball season as a .500 ball club both in the Calumet Conference and overall.

The Indians were coached by Mr. Morris Goodnight this year. Also for the first time in four years the Indians didn't have a losing season.

Portage then went into the sectionals to take the first game from the Washington Township Senators, 107-52. The tribe set a scoring record previously held by Valparaiso, 95 points. Later, the Indians took on Valpo only to lose, 84-68. The Vikings then took Chesterton 79-56.

Before entering the sectionals, the conference scoring averages were composed, and as a team, the tribe scored 79.5 points per game. The average did not enforce the Indians' 6-6 record, since PHS never lost a conference game by more than seven points, but won two by 24 points.

In individual scoring, two Indians were in the conference's top ten scorers. Five-foot ten Nelson averaged 20 points a game, second in the conference, while Allison was sixth with 17.4.

Chased from behind by a Wirt defender, all-conference guard Bob Nelson drives for a PHS score.

Sponsor adds 2 intramural sports in '69

Three new sports were added to intramurals this year. Mr. Eugene Fleck, new director, put football, ping pong, and baseball on the intramural schedule to accompany basketball.

Football was played once a week for five weeks in the fall. The winners were the Rams, whose captain was Gary Cadwallader.

Jim Bono, a senior, captained the upperclass tourney winners, and sophomore Bob Porch led the underclassmen.

Ping pong was between basketball and baseball. Class winners were senior Phil Thompson, junior Dan La-Hayne, sophomore Mike Tracht, and freshman Tim Sarasin.

Baseball was played for only three weeks in the spring.

Reserve track team finishes first in quintangular tourney

A first in a quintangular meet between the PHS junior varsity track squad, River Forest, Lake Central, Chesterton, and East Gary highlighted the reserve season in which the Jayvees only scored one dual meet victory against two defeats.

The freshmen, led by Ted Harper, Kevin Cowles, John Vottero, and Jon

Tetric, were 5-0 and got the only firsts in the Rensselaer invitational.

In the freshman-sophomore meet at River Forest, the young Indians finished fourth. In the frosh meet at Valparaiso Ben Franklin, the tribe beat both Franklin and Valpo Jefferson 72-34-47 respectively.

To gain a step on his nearest opponent, senior Don Ellman uses all his energy to clear the hurdles.

Thomas third in regional and state contests

Bob Thomas' third place finish in the two-mile run at the state track finals in Indianapolis "iced the cake" for the PHS track team, coached for the first year by Mr. Michael Cavanaugh.

Thomas, a junior, placed first in the sectionals with senior Bob Nelson, but Nelson was eliminated in the regionals.

One of Thomas' new records was set in the Gary sectionals in the two-mile with a time of 9:27, and Nelson broke a record of 20' 7½" set in 1957, by clearing a length of 21' 3". Tom Winn, a junior, broke a pole vault record that stood for 16 years at 11' 7½" by jumping 12 feet.

Thomas also set a record of 4:28 in the mile, and Nelson, 1:58.6 in the 880-yard run. The mile relay team composed of Nelson, and juniors Roger Owens, Pete Shaw, and Vic Pantea set a new PHS record of 3:28.2. Senior Bill Grund tied a high hurdle record of 15.3, besides being the Indians' top high-jumper for the 1969 season.

Besides having two individual winners in the sectionals, the cindermen were 7-4 in dual meets.

Attempting to get extra momentum out of his arms, Senior Bill Grund tries clearing 4'11" in the high jump.

PHS junior pole vaulter Tom Winn barely clears the bar at a practice jump. Later this year, jumping 12 feet, he set a new school record.

fore a 4-3 loss to Lowell.

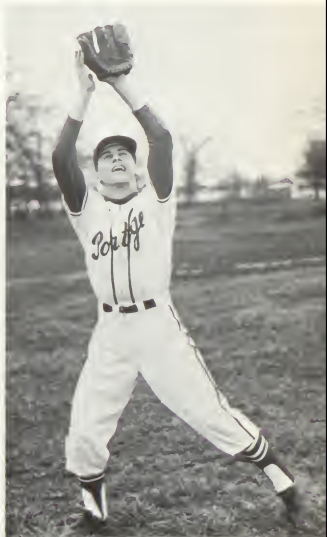

Another hurler, Alvarado, won two and lost one game, and sophomore Dennis Horner was 1-0.

Although PHS was .500 in the conference, they scored 50 runs to only 37 for the opponents.

Three sophomores on the JV squad were undefeated. Horner was 1-0, Chris Lajcin was 1-0, and Dan Riley won two games. Allen England was 2-1.

Riley also led in batting, hitting .522, followed by Jim Langendorfer's .423 and Lajcin's .417.

The freshmen, playing as a separate team from the JV's for the first year, beat the Chesterton frosh, 10-3, and 7-0.

Three co-winners of Most Valuable Player awards and the announcement of the James Benfield award winner highlighted the activities of the All-Sports Banquet.

Mr. Eugene Fleck, intramural director, served as master of ceremonies for the dinner, held Thursday, May 22 in PHS cafeteria.

Mr. Fleck gave a talk on "What is a Teenager." He then introduced Miss Christine Counterman, sponsor of cheerleaders who gave awards to reserve cheerleaders, three-year letters to Joan Peters, Vicki Melton, and Karen Johnston, and a senior letter to Connie Benton.

Mr. Robert Smith, head football coach, gave a four-year letter to George Beasley, and then presented the MVP trophy to Jerry Hurst, a junior.

Bob Thomas, another junior, was given the cross country MVP award by Mr. Michael Cavanaugh.

A tie for most valuable basketball player between Marv Allison and Bob Nelson was announced by Coach Morrie Goodnight. Danny Hall, another senior, was named most valuable wrestler by Coach Bruce Sheriff, and Butch Ginter received his four-year trophy.

Swim coach Jon Jepsen announced the second tie, between Steve Van Nort and John Hinshaw, and then awarded Golf MVP to Rick Bauman.

Mr. Cavanaugh gave the track honors to Bob Nelson and junior Bob Thomas, and then Mr. Larry Cason awarded Dave Alvarado the PHS baseball award.

For four years of service on the varsity football team, George Beasley is given a senior trophy by Coach Bob Smith.

State, district meets attract GAA groups

The GAA Interscholastic 440-relay team ended the season first in the district meet and fourth in state competition, setting a district record of 55.3 seconds. Brenda Schilling and Sue Schiller won the individual honors.

In the state gymnastics meet, Diane Mathis was first and Pat Theising, second, in the all-around competition. Judi Kirk and Diane Schumaker each took awards in trampoline. Pat and Judi also took top awards in the district meet.

The varsity basketball team remained undefeated, winning nine games. Varsity field hockey won one and lost one, while varsity volleyball won three out of eight games played. The bowling team won the district trophy by accumulating more points than any other area school.

Showing the form that helped her take first in state all-around competition is GAA member Diane Mathis.

Faculty hobbies include tropical fish, jazz

With 63 masters and 96 bachelor degrees, the PHS faculty knows the meaning of hard work. The teachers instruct in areas dealing with general to complicated subjects.

Besides their regular duties of giving tests, making assignments, and grading papers, the faculty found time for a large variety of hobbies; the most common being sports and music, and the most unusual being ichthyology, archaeology, and flying saucers. Some teachers also reserved time to be on national TV, write books, and serve time in the Peace Corps.

Over the past year, teachers traveled to places as distant as Spain, Hawaii, the Caribbean, Las Vegas, and "South Kouts" on business and pleasure trips.

Stropky. The day crew performs the daily routine work while the night crew does much of the mopping and waxing.

Posting the daily announcements, DAR winner, Dani Dorall performs her duties in the student council office.

Receiving recognition for being valedictorian of a class of 370, Bill Peterson is congratulated by Mr. Richard Wilson.

Bill, Polly number one, two; DAR title presented to Dani

The awarding of senior honors climaxed a four-year career for distinguished students.

William Peterson, with a 4.0 average for seven semesters of work, was named valedictorian. Bill was also National Merit Scholarship semifinalist and was awarded a $1,000 scholarship.

Salutatorian Polly Wildermuth compiled a 3.975 average after three and one-half years of work.

The DAR Good Citizen title was granted to Dani Dorall. Based on dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism, the award, limited to senior girls, was voted upon by seniors.

Symbolic of her achievement, Polly Wildermuth accepts the trophy for salutatorian at the Awards Night ceremonies.

Checking the schedule of events for their upcoming commencement, senior class officers, Vickie Melton, vice-president, and John Hinshaw, president, discuss the new plans. Patti Kirk, secretary, was not available for the picture.

Building college, job, family plans occupies Class of '69

Thoughts of freshman embarrassments, sophomore insecurity, and junior aloofness vanished as seniors began their fourth and last year as members of PHS.

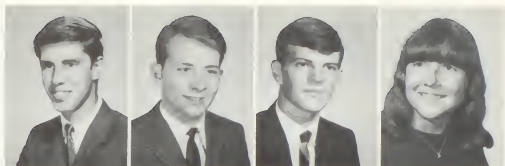

First place for their Spirit Week poster and homecoming float, "Tame the Wild West," went to seniors. They sponsored the Christmas dance, "Snowball," and were the guests at the prom. The class party was held in late spring.

Memories of term papers and final exams faded into the background as the hustle and bustle of senior week took over the thoughts and actions of all seniors.

The combination baccalaureate and graduation was a bitter-sweet moment for all seniors. However, the challenge and opportunities of the world awaited them as they stepped into their role as responsible adults.

In memoriam

James L. Van Proyen

James L. Van Proyen died after a motorcycle accident on July 23, 1968. During his three years in high school, Jim was a member of orchestra, intramurals, choir, and the post-prom committee.

His tragic death saddened all his friends and acquaintances.

James W. Taylor

The sudden death of James W. Taylor in an automobile accident on March 15, 1969, stunned all who knew him.

Jim participated in choir and the graduation committee. Early production deadlines required his picture to be on page 139.

Juniors build brick road to Emerald City

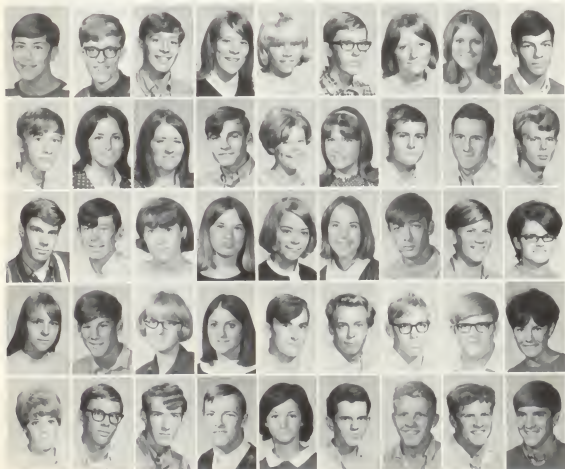

1968-1969 has been filled with many new experiences and challenges both in and out of school. With all their activities, including class parties, games, and college board tests, juniors had little time to think about becoming seniors, but looked forward to this position eagerly.

In complete Indian dress, the Class of '70 came out in full force to support their motto, "Turn 'Em Into Peanut Butter," during Spirit Week. They were awarded with second place.

Profits from the fall class candy sale financed the junior-senior prom, entitled, "An Emerald Evening." Couples attended on May 17.

As Roger Owens, junior class vice-president, "expounds," Susi Tetrick, secretary, and Paul Tesanovich, president, listen in amusement.

A memorial

The students and faculty of Portage High School were both shocked and saddened by the sudden deaths of Joeline Kloeffer and Richard Hall. A car-truck accident, occurring October 19, 1968, on McCool Road and Route 6, brought their young lives to an end at the age of 16.

Joeline and Richard were well known and loved by their many friends and will be long remembered by them and members of the PHS faculty.

1969 tour delegates were (top to bottom) Jerry Petillon, Randy Olson, Diann Lindquist, and Susan Tetrick.

Tour delegates are selected by students as PHS envoys

The junior year was a rewarding one for those who worked hard and were eligible to sign up for the UN Tour, a trip through Washington D.C. and New York City; the World Affairs Institute in Cincinnati, Ohio; and Boys' and Girls' State, held at the Indiana State University campus during June.

In each tour or session, participants learn first hand about the problems and assets of national or state governments and become aware of governmental functions while they enjoy the activities encountered during the trips.

A memorable experience for the UN Tour delegates was the opportunity to be in Washington during the funeral of former President Eisenhower.

Boys' State delegates, Dan Finucane, Robby Evans, Pete Shaw, and Randy Olson, review their current events. Alternates were Steve Lovell and Richard Harris.

Sophs master driving skills, study health

Health and safety and drivers' education characterized the course load of most sophomores.

During Spirit Week, they bottled up their opposition with their "Cork 'Em" theme.

The Class of '71 sponsored their party on January 11 from 7:30 to 10:30. The Tombstone Blues provided the entertainment.

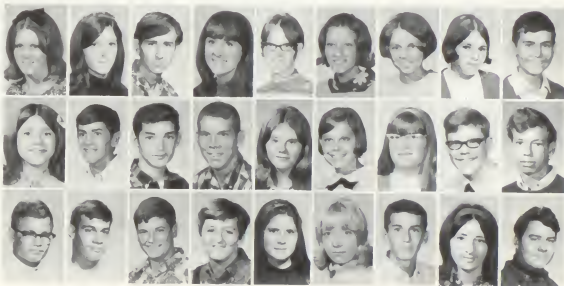

Class rings were ordered in March and distributed to the students before school closed.

As sophomore Joyce Gaydos places an order for her choice in class rings, the ring salesman checks her correct size.

Strange halls fail to daunt spirited frosh

The unfamiliar halls of PHS were a challenge to the in-coming frosh, but as time passed, the Class of '72 earned its place in the world of Portage High School.

This was obvious when the freshmen displayed their school spirit by using "Stomp 'Em" as their Spirit Week theme, and wearing paper feet to complete the idea.

The climax of their first year was the class party on March 15 from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. in the old cafeteria. "Great Expectations" was the theme with The Tombstone Blues as the featured band.

Before an organizational meeting, class secretary Sharon Johnston and vice-president Sue Michael wait as president Arman Sarkisian straightens his locker.

Businesses

Teens patronizing local businesses . . . spending over a half million dollars . . . purchasing power! . . . September . . . new pencils, notebooks . . . homecoming . . . lumber, float building supplies . . . "Want a hamburger?" . . . time flies, December already . . . no problem, a Christmas Club account stretches the season . . . Ah, love . . . show it with flowers . . . promtime . . . that once-a-year tux . . . summer jobs . . . money to plan for the future . . . careers . . . a main objective of education.

Testing some of Brandt Hardware's new sports equipment are sophomores Peggy Dillon, Benet Brandt, and Cissy Muller.

Selfish? Maybe so, but chicken from Chuck Wheeler's is one thing some people can't help being selfish about.

Students test advertisers merchandise

Always first in quality and service, Brandt's Hardware and Sports, located at 5700 Central Avenue, is open daily 8-6, Sunday 9-12. Phone 762-3421 for information on tools for rent.

Free prescription delivery by dialing 762-7380 is only one of the many services performed by Mall Drugs. Located in the Portage Mall, it also carries a wide variety of cosmetics, gifts, candies, and cards.

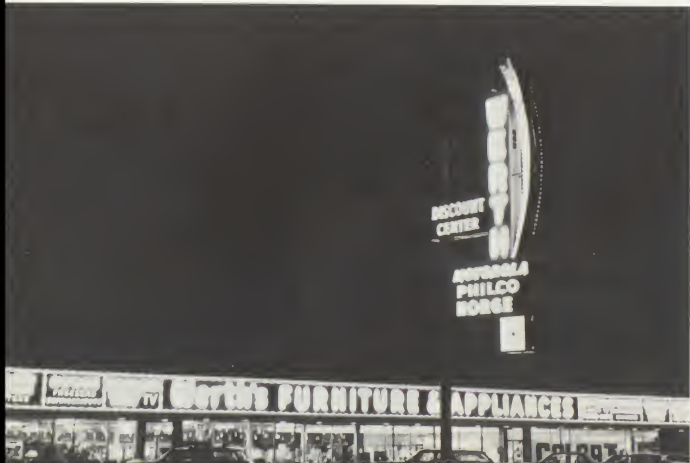

With twelve locations serving Northern Indiana, Chuck Wheeler Take-Home Restaurants are open seven days a week. Delicious Kentucky Fried Chicken may be ordered by calling 762-7177 or stopping in at the Portage branch located in the Mall.

For the newest and largest selection in unusual antiques, posters, jewelry, and gifts, stop in at Greenwich House Interiors Inc., 615 South Lake Street, Miller.

After admiring the many unusual trinkets at Greenwich House Interiors, junior Debi Devyak chooses a bell necklace.

Werth Furniture, furniture, carpeting, and appliance center, is located at the corner of Routes 6 and 51 in Hobart.

Growing city draws a variety of new firms

For the finest standard and the newest in women's wear, visit Marie's Women's Apparel and Gifts, in the Mall. Open daily 10-6, Thursday and Friday until 9.

Specializing in freezer orders, Ruge and Sons is located at Route 7 in Valparaiso. Phone 926-1108 or stop in at their retail showroom for more information on rates.

It pays to save where the savings pay, at First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 6031 Central Avenue. Call 762-3171 for information and hours, six days a week.

Reasonable rates on all dance flowers and flowers for any occasion are always found at La Fleur Boutique, located two doors north of the Savoy in the Mall or phone 762-7300 for free delivery.

For conventional or V.A. and F.H.A. mortgage loans visit one of W. E. White Mortgage Co., Inc.'s two locations. The Portage branch is located in the Mall.

After "visiting" his money at First Federal Savings, junior Tom Swanson dashes out before the vault is closed.

After choosing flowers from La Fleur Boutique for freshman Diane Schumaker, junior Dan Mesich writes her a card.

Carefully slicing a choice cut of the quality beef that Ruge and Sons are well-known for is part-owner Don Ruge.

Adjusting sophomore Pam Kay's new suspenders, one of Marie's experienced and helpful saleswomen shortens the strap.

Serving the local areas, South Haven Pharmacy is located directly off Route 6 in the South Haven Square.

Carefully explaining some of the details of a mortgage loan, Mr. W. E. White of White Mortgage Company points out several suggestions on money management to sophomore Harold Wendt.

Community businesses provide for Portage

Conveniently located in the Portage Mall, Snyder's Piano and Organ employs experienced musicians for instructions in piano and organ as well as many other instruments. Sheet music, books, and equipment may be purchased six days a week. Phone Snyder's at 762-1611 for further details.

Always first in fashion, Courtesy Department Store, Route 51 and Central Avenue, East Gary, serves as Lake and Porter county's most modern department store. To keep up with the latest styles, visit Courtesy often.

Full service banking can be obtained at the Portage branch of the First National Bank, 13195 Central Avenue. Open a checking or savings account at two convenient locations with the bank you can trust.

Piano players, tired of practicing? Take the easy way out. Investigate the many advantages of Snyder's new player pianos as sophomore Cissy Muller demonstrates.

Interested, careful shoppers frequent nearby businesses

Carrying a complete line of beauty and health needs, Miller Drugs, located at 540 South Lake Street, provides prescriptions, Hallmark cards, and Fannie May candies. Phone 938-1103, weekdays, 9-10, Sundays, 9-5.

"If you don't know lumber, know your lumberman," is the philosophy of Willowcreek Lumber Co., 555 Willowcreek Road. Call orders to 762-2115.

With three Portage area branches of Chesterton State Bank, you are never far from excellent banking services. The Portage branch is located at 1111 Melton Road.

Your cleaner is your "clothes" friend when your cleaner is Dres-Well. Stop in at 5160D Central Avenue or call 962-1397 for four-hour cleaning service.

No matter what the occasion say it with flowers from Kellen's Hobart Flower Shop, 409 Main Street, Hobart. For deliveries phone 942-1197.

"Open the door" to lower prices on all your lumber goods at Willowcreek Lumber Co., where a greater selection of quality goods is an assurance of the best.

Flowers are always a welcome gift, especially when they're from Kellen's as junior Mari Benson expresses in accepting roses from senior Ken Krohn.

DRES-WELL
Cleaners

WHEN U MESS
EM WE CLEAN AND PRESS EM

When your clothes have reached the "Dark Ages" let Dres-Well Cleaners light the way to a whiter and brighter future.

The finest is always first at Miller Drugs—where juniors Carla Mattingly and Mary Boyer test a new line of cosmetics.

Aiding a patron at the time-saving drive-in window at Chesterton State Bank, PHS graduate Bobbie Walsh cashes a check.

Popular teen eating places employ high school youths

Looking for more than a sandwich? Yum Yum Donuts Inc., located in the Wells building in the Mall, combines a coffee shop with a bakery.

Preparing wedding and birthday cakes and catering for special occasions are their specialties. Also, snacks of coffee and doughnuts or hamburgers and french fries are always delicious treats whether eaten there or taken home. Place orders by dialing 762-4300.

For a delicious snack and quick service, stop in at Skip's Drive-In, open six days a week. Skip's location at 6545 Central Avenue is only four blocks east of the high school. Phone 762-4692 for complete carry out service.

Meet your friends at Frank-n-Stein, located on Routes 12 and 20 near Clay Street. Try a monstrous sandwich or one of their "franks" in their comfortable dining area or call 938-2258 for carry outs.

While seniors Paul Van Wormer and Pat Monroe decide what to order, Yum Yum Donuts waitress Patti Jennings patiently awaits their decisions.

For an after-school pick-me-up or a before-game treat, stop at Skip's and try one of their famous "swampwaters."

Even Frank-n-Stein workers, seniors Liz Holman, Debbie Dupree, junior Lenore Hirsch, and '68 grads Millie Sachse, and Chris McCallister, come back as customers.

Selecting several holiday decorations at Portage Drugs, freshman Barry Deckard is "attacked" in the spirit of things.

With a store to serve your every need, the Village Shopping Center is located on Grant Street in Gary.

Your every question is answered with sound advice by the capable personnel of Burns Harbor Realty, Inc.

Large variety of stores aid thrifty shoppers

Fill your prescription needs immediately at Portage Professional Pharmacy, located in the Portage Clinic in the Mall or call for free delivery by dialing 762-4011.

Often called "Miller's biggest-little gift shop," Dunes Gift Shop is open daily until 5:30 p.m., Friday until 9 p.m. to fill every gift need.

Located at the corner of Central Avenue and Willowcreek Road, Portage Drugs has a large selection of cosmetics, greeting cards, school supplies, and toy and hobby supplies, supplying every need. Phone 762-3080 for prescription delivery.

Supplying men's and young men's nationally advertised clothing, michael allen's Men's Wear, is newly located in the Mall. Formal rentals are also available for all occasions.

If you are thinking of making a "change in address," visit Burns Harbor Realty, Inc., in the Mall or phone them at 762-3111, for quality homes.

Selecting a "large economy-size" pill for that headache at Portage Professional Pharmacy is senior Larry Meier.

Glancing at the delicate hand-blown glass figures at Dunes Gift Shop, junior Mary Boyer tries to make her final choice.

Though you may not buy as much as freshman Bob Crestani does, you will always find your needs at michael-allen's Men's Wear.

Remembering, our chance to turn around

At the Quill and Scroll Banquet, co-editors Mary Ann Kuznicki and Polly Wildermuth are presented the Ethel Jones Outstanding Journalist award by Mr. Robert Rhude.

Nine months ... 184 pages ... we treasure our chance to TURN AROUND ... "our" staff board meetings ... scolding and praise ... late worknights ... Kentucky Fried Chicken ... frantic races with a red marker to a chart ... for deadlines ... one, surprisingly, two weeks early ... the ecstasy of meeting them all ... thanks to a very dedicated staff ... our appreciation and high esteem to an understanding adviser.

Current events pictures in the opening section are provided courtesy of NAS UPI, and the Dwight D. Eisenhower Library. The Vidette-Messenger donated News Bureau picture, and Clyde Putsch, the state track finals. Root Photographers also deserve thanks for their professional assistance. Cover design was by Marsha Petretta.
